Silver Linings carefully crafts wedding ceremonies that reflect your personalities throughout.

Your ceremony can be traditional, contemporary, romantic, light-hearted, special themed and can include religious elements.

- The Renewal of Vows (after several years of marriage and wish to celebrate again)

Unity Elements are extras which can make ceremonies unique and memorable. They also offer the opportunity to involve family members and friends.

All of the elements are rituals that symbolise the joining together becoming one family unable to be parted and every element creates a keepsake.

Hand Fasting - £80

A Celtic tradition where the meaning 'tying the knot' originated from.

The couples arms are tied with coloured ribbons forming an eternal knot which they keep in a beautiful photo frame.

Sand Ceremony - £100

This is an incredibly powerful ritual, where the couple pour different coloured sand into a joint vessel forming a layered effect. This unity element works especially well with children/step-children.

We have a vast range of colours! Local business, Little Letters beautifully handwrites the personalised wording.

Sharing of Wine - £100

This unity element is for wine or champagne lovers!

Throughout history, across different cultures, the sharing of wine has played a traditional role in many wedding ceremonies.

The couple have their own personalised glass, choosing a wine that represents them as an individual. They pour their wine into a single vessel, and both sip from the blend they've created. The glasses will have their married name and wedding date.

Unity Candle - £50

The couple light their individual candle and then both bring their flames together to create one flame to light a joint candle together.

We also preserve wedding flowers in Resin - £150

Testimonial written by Becky

'We thought Suzy was totally, totally wonderful and would recommend her to anyone! Our script was so thoughtful and personal, funny, emotional, beautifully written and spoken and she made our day SO special.

Nothing was too big an ask and she gave great advice as to how to structure the ceremony but also allowed us to have the final say in how everything went.
